Guess what!

At Archbishop Kiwanuka primary school, year seven candidates had an amazing leavers' party. The party was held outside the school premises for a change of environment. Children were smart in their best clothes and shoes.

Work without play makes John a dull child.

Candidates at St. John Leonard primary school enjoyed their leavers' party too. They received success cards for their final exams from the staff on this day. This allowed them to be relieved of their stress.

A prayer day for primary seven candidates.

Candidates had a prayer day for their final exams. A priest was invited to lead children in a school mass. Children gained more confidence in passing their final exams after this prayer day.

Visitors from brass band Africa

St .John Leonard primary school received visitors from the UK (Brass for Africa) on Independence Day. Children in the school band excitedly performed for them. It was such a beautiful day at the school.
